Course Policies
Instructor Policies	Time Requirements for this Course: Organization will save you. The standard expectation for a college level class is approximately 10-12 hours a week. A class that is a 3-hour credit class will require 3 hours outside study time for each hour in class. Our class is considered a 3-hour credit class and therefore the additional study/working on assignments time is applicable. Please make sure to adjust your schedule accordingly. Technology Responsibility: It is assumed that students registered for an online class are proficient with the technological/computer requirements and the Blackboard system. A lack of computer proficiency is not an excuse for the failure to submit assignments, etc. It is your responsibility to understand how to navigate Blackboard, upload files, view video, etc. Students should be aware that much of the responsibility in mastering the material falls to the student. Please keep up with your grades. Students should keep all copies of graded and ungraded work until course grades have been submitted at the end of the semester. A current running average is always available to you in the Current Average tab in the Blackboard Grade Center. Your grade will be based solely on your performance on the above listed grades. Additionally, all grades will be posted in Blackboard in a timely manner. Please make sure to read the comments sections included with your grade and, additionally, read the comments on your submitted assignments as I make comments in both places. It is your responsibility to read comments and assessment notes and to make the suggested changes in the future. Graded submissions are timed and will be completed in Blackboard. All graded submissions are due by 11:59 pm on the due date. Make sure you have a stable internet connection before you begin a graded submission. Quizzes will consist of discussion/essay questions and multiple choice/short answer questions. Quizzes will cover material from your textbook, reading materials, and video presentations. I will not contact you to find out why you missed an exam. If you try to take a quiz having neither read the material or taken notes on the video lectures nor studied the material thoroughly you will not be successful. Additionally, please plan accordingly when allowing time to complete your quizzes. Quizzes consist of three 1 to 2-page essay questions with short answer and multiple-choice sections. Students are expected to follow the directions given for the quiz regarding submission, formatting, length, etc. Quiz Prep with essay topics are distributed at the start of each unit. The Core Project will be a research assignment on the need for an Electoral College. Each student will research and craft an essay summarizing the Federalist and Anti-Federalist arguments on selecting the national executive. Students will form groups to create a play of two historical figures debating the historical proposal. Each group will submit a video of their play. Specific details will be discussed in September. Assignments are usually worksheets associated with a video or a reading. Assignments will vary based on the source material, so it is very important that you read the directions for each assignment carefully. Late work is not accepted without approval by your school district. The most recent example occurred during a hurricane in Fall 2020 when public schools and LSCPA were closed.

Failure is not an option. Any failed assignment may be redone within a deadline set by me. The maximum grade given on a redo is 60%. Email me if you want to take advantage of this opportunity.

Effort is always rewarded. There will be extra credit opportunities in each unit. One major extra credit assignment will be offered concerning the Jacobs book. To receive extra credit, you must meet the standards set out in the assignment and rubric to a level that illustrates diligence and excellence.

Identifying your class and section is a good practice in communicating with any instructor. Students should put the class name and the section number in the subject line of any email. Since we will communicate extensively through email, it is important that you be aware of the tone and structure of their correspondence. All emails should include a greeting, a clear statement of the question or inquiry, your name, and include proper spelling and grammar. 'Texting' abbreviations, lack of punctuation and 'i' are not acceptable. I enjoy getting to know my students through email so please do not hesitate to contact me. All email must come from the student's assigned Lamarpa.edu email address. Emails received in the evening will not get a response until the next day. I do strive to reply within 24 hours.

The reading and video links included in the Content tab are an integral part of the course. They provide students with a resource to gain a deeper understanding of the material. I have chosen selections that I feel will aid in deepening your understanding related to a person, era, event, experience, etc. Some are documentaries or films, some standard lectures from other universities, and others - book discussion by authors - address the subject they have written about but also help you to understand the historians' craft. You should take notes while viewing/reading just as if you were sitting in a classroom listening to a presentation.

Currently, all video links are working but sometimes they may, without notice, get moved to a new server, expire or an organization may decide to take down a link. If you notice a broken link during the semester, please let me know and I will investigate and update the selection with a new link or a replacement selection. Students should make sure that they view and read the material on schedule and take notes just as if you were in a lecture class. Material from the provided videos and readings will be included on quizzes.

This class moves very quickly and there is very little time to catch up if you get behind. Deadlines are firm. Make it a priority to read daily and to stay on schedule with the readings, videos, quizzes, and assignments. These take time. Additionally, remember that you not only have to read the material, but you also must make time to study the material. I recommend that students print out the assignment schedule and refer to it daily and plan their schedules accordingly.

Attendance Policy

Attendance is expected. Please arrive at class on time and sign in. Students are required to log-on to Blackboard daily to stay current regarding emails, class announcements, assignment, and quiz dates, and to complete readings.
